Meet Tara

Tara worked full-time to support her active daughter, Claire. One cold evening while walking to her car after work, Tara slipped and fell on a patch of ice, causing her to strain her back, which made her unable to do her job. Tara had no other sources of income or disability benefits outside of her coverage through work during her time off work. Fortunately, Tara had purchased Short Term Disability Income Insurance through her employer, which provided her with benefits to replace 60% of her regular pay while she was unable to work. This helped reduce the potential financial strain Tara would have faced without this insurance. Seven weeks later, Tara's back had healed and she was able to return to work.

Do I need to provide evidence of insurability (answer health questions) to be covered for Long Term Disability Income Insurance?

New Hires

- You do not need to provide evidence of insurability to be covered.

- When evidence of insurability is required, the insurance company will need to approve it before coverage becomes effective.

Annual Enrollment to be effective

- Any elections after your eligibility period will require evidence of insurability.
- When evidence of insurability is required, the insurance company will need to approve it before coverage becomes effective.

Why isn't Social Security Disability Insurance enough?

It could take over one year to receive approval for Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) benefits. Additionally, one of the decision points the Social Security Administration uses to determine if you meet their definition of disability is whether your disability is expected to last at least a year or result in your death. Disability Income Insurance can provide benefits while you wait for SSDI benefits to be approved and can supplement those benefits once approved.

Why would someone need both Short and Long Term Disability Income coverage?

Short and Long Term Disability coverage provide financial protection for different periods of time. Short Term Disability coverage is intended to provide financial protection for a disability lasting just a few weeks. Some disabilities last longer. Long Term Disability benefits begin after Short Term Disability has been exhausted.

Why should I enroll through my employer?

- Insurance premiums are deducted from your paycheck.
- We will waive your premiums while you are receiving benefits from us.
- The cost of Disability Income Insurance through your employer is usually much lower than an individual disability policy.
